DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Applicant's election of invention I without traverse in Paper No. 5 of the restriction requirement is acknowledged and made final.

Drawings

2. New drawings will be required contingent upon allowance because the drawings were objected to by the draftsman/declared informal by the applicant.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U. S. C. 112 second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

(re: cl5) applicant introduced locations: "substantially the bottom" and "substantially the top" in apparently trying to define the slot. Consider using a locale adjective such as "proximate" in place of the quantitative-qualitative adjective "substantially" or moving "substantially" immediately after second "extending" to read: "slot extending substantially from"

Response to Amendments

5. Applicant's amendment were effective in distinguishing applicant's invention over the prior art. Applicant's amendments were effective in overcoming the previous rejections under 35 U.S.C. 112 second paragraph.

Art Unit: 3653

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1-4, 6-7, 9-13 and 46-47 are allowed.

7. The prior art neither discloses nor obviates a test strip dispenser having housing, container within housing, movable body connected to button, movable body configured to engage test strip and partially displace strip from container in movable body's first position upon a first pushing of a button, movable body configured to engage test strip and fully displace strip from container in movable body's second position upon a second pushing of a button.

Of particular interest was Pawlo which discloses a strip dispenser having housing, container within housing, movable body engaging test strip to displace strip from container, body connected to actuator, movable mechanism drives body into engagement and displace a test strip dispenser having housing, container within housing, movable body connected to button, movable body configured to engage test strip and partially displace strip from container in movable body's first position upon a partial pushing of a button, movable body configured to engage test strip and fully displace strip from container in movable body's second position upon a full pushing of a button.. However, in Pawlo et al. lacks a button to engagement linkage mechanism that cycles the engagement mechanism and its reliant strip at a period less than the as Pawlo et al. discloses the simpler button to engagement linkages that coincide depression to engagement and release to retraction, and only the mechanical button linkage of fig. 4 has a separate full exposure contrasted to partial exposure of the strip and that being a result of a partial button depression rather than a cycling of the button. .

Art Unit: 3653

Of further interest is Van Schie disclosing: a dispenser of rigid strips having housing, container within housing, movable body engaging test strip to displace strip from container, body connected to actuator, movable mechanism drives body into engagement a button-strip engagement linkage that results in a partial exposure of the strip out an opening and a movement to a second engagement position with full exposure of the strip a result of button release rather than the claimed system which cycles the engagement mechanism separately upon button cycling.

Draper et al. discloses a test strip dispenser having housing, container within housing, movable body electrically connected to button, movable body configured to engage test strip and partially displace strip from container in movable body's first position upon a first pushing of a button, movable body configured to engage test strip and fully displace strip from container in a subsequent cycling to movable body's first position upon a second pushing of a button. However, the engaging mechanism electrical linkage cycles the engaging mechanism one for one with the pushbutton with an incrementing of the strip upon the engaging mechanism.

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
